COTTON IS LOOKING UP.

Expected Decrease in Receipts Stimu'aled

Spot Cotton Closed 1-18 Up at New Orleans; Other Markets Were Unchanged.

Yeslerday's trading in cotton made it evident that the bulls are still masters of the situation, though their position is perhaps not as secure as it was ten days ago.

not as secure as it was ten days ago.

Liverpool prices were 2½-64ths up on contracts, while New York showed a gain of 7 to 10 points, with the New Orleans market 8 to 7 points up. Spots were 1-16c up at New Orleans and unchanged classifier.

While the seemingly endless volume of cotten coming on the market would seem to strengthen the position of big crop advectes there is another reason why the volume is holding up so well, and that is the pairty good price that has been realized for saveral days. While a better price was had sariler, the instability of the market was Such that a farmer did not know what the continued fair price has given the market a more stable nature, the market piece is the possible price in the possible nature, the market a more stable nature, the market piece is the possible price in the price has given the market a more stable nature, the marketing is greer.

Of course, if the possible free movement.

Of course, if the present free movemen should continue to the end of the season, Mr. Neill's recent estimate of 9,750,000 bales would be almost as erroneous as some of his tormer predictions, but in order to read on must equal those of 1808-99, the big ere year, for a like period. Fow believe to correspondingly large receipts will be he for the remaining portion of the season.

It is now evident that a decrease in ceipus is setting in. Houston expects on $5000 to 5000 bales today, against $837 is Year, while New Orleans expects 4000 to 50 Pasinst 4794 list year.

With decreasing receipts it is practical certain that the most strenuous efforts of the bears will not prevent the price from reaching ing and maintaining a considerably higher level than at present. In fact, the expectation of lighter reserves has already brought about a decidedty better (selling and in-Creased buying, and the trade expects improved prices today.

SPECULATION SMALL.

Beffer Feeling Prevailed in Liver-pool Cotton Market. New York, January 18.—Speculation in pot-

the market was better because the Liver puni market did not respond to our de line of yesterday, as the trade here expected. Private cables stated that the decline there yesterday was largly due to manipulative selling orders from this adds and to the heavy Sombay movement for the week, but a better feeling pravalled today as a communication of improved continental demand and belief in better trade conditions in the near future. On the advices our market started a to 7 points higher and ruled steady on that basis most of the day. There was less disposition among the bear clement to sell, while traders seemed more inclined to operate on the built side in stopping the market. Throughout the afternoon trade was quiet and firm with buying credominating. The close was stendy at a net advance of 6 to 19 points. pust market did not respond to our desline

IN THE STOCK MARKET.

Hays: The markets here were idle and depressed redsy on a rumor that the queen's health is very bad, suggesting a possibility of a general election and the reopening of the franswan question. These apprehensions seemed far-fetched as were talk of an early new war loan. Americans were weak early and hardened o buying of Southern Pacific, but reacted on the New York opening, closing duil.
